Guitarist Press Kit

"There are players and then there are players!
Paulina is one of the latter. Playing notes is one thing, playing the feel of a piece is another."

ABOUT

Paulina Romano is a Connecticut-born guitarist and Berklee College of Music graduate. She has experience across a wide range of genres including pop, indie, R&B, blues, and metal, with rock as her forte. Her talent has taken her across the U.S. and Europe on stages ranging from festivals, theaters and arenas. This includes touring with legendary artists such as Jon Anderson of YES, Gibby Haynes of The Butthole Surfers, and past members of Frank Zappa's band.

Paulina's career is defined by standout performances and exceptional opportunities. While touring with Jon Anderson, the original vocalist of YES, Paulina had the honor of playing lead guitar on the hit song "Owner of a Lonely Heart" plus more and singing backing vocals on "Roundabout." During the European tour, she performed two shows at London's O2 Shepherd's Bush Empire, both of which were sold-out, and headlined two nights at Germany's Frank Zappa festival, Zappanale. She was also a featured guitarist for Windborne's Music of Led Zeppelin sold-out tribute show, performing alongside a 27-piece orchestra at Boston's Emerson Colonial Theatre. At Berklee, a few of Paulina's standout achievements included being a featured guitarist in Guitar Night: Rock and Pop, performing at Career Jam, and playing in the Commencement Concert at Agganis Arena, honoring Q-Tip, Ledisi, and Gilberto Santa Rosa. With a strong foundation in performance and recording, her dedication and impressive accomplishments mark her as a rising star in the music industry.
